While the bank is not strictly a savings bank there will be a savings department in connection with the commercial side. Many features have been inaugurated in the bank all of which will be of great value to the merchant and to the other depositors in the institution. Mr. Park, besides being president of the Bankers Trust Co., is a director of the Danforth Trust Co., treasurer of the Danforth Savings society, president and general manager of the Asa-waga Mills Co., treasurer and general manager of the Little Mills of Hanover, treasurer and general manager of the Angus Park Mfg. Co. of East Glastonbury. In politics he is a republican and from 1907 to 1911 was state senator from the Shoreline district. Mr. Park is a man of foresight and his presence at the head of the new bank should inspire the confidence of the people which the new bank is to serve.

Timothy C. Murphy, another man who has found success in the business life of the city, is the first vice president of the bank. Mr. Murphy has been engaged in the clothing business for many years and has been one of Norwich's most efficient mayors.

The room is lighted by an overhead indirect system giving ample light at all times and during the morning hours it is not necessary to burn lights at all. The floor is of tile with an attractive design border. The exterior of the bank is in semi-colonial style and is very attractive.

The bank will open for business and inspection at 9 o'clock this (Wednesday) morning and will remain open until 9 o'clock this evening. The officials of the bank cordially invite the people of Norwich to come in during the day and inspect their new quarters.
